Carry Fight Into Heart of Chihuahua, But Suffer Defeat, Report Says

VILLA'S AUTO IS RIDDLED

Both Sides Suffer Heavy Losses in Street Fighting Before Attacking Forces Are Driven to the Plains Where Machine Guns Exact Heavy Toll—Villa's Lieutenant is Wounded

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Juarez, Mex., Nov. 27.—The final result of the fighting between the de facto government forces defending Chihuahua City and Francisco Villa's bandit army was unknown at the American border today. Wire communication between Chihuahua City and Juarez, broken presumably by bandits Saturday, has not been restored. Carranza officials here express the conviction that Villa's efforts to take the city had been defeated although the last news received directly from the battlefield indicated that the bandits during the fighting Saturday carried the conflict into the city proper where they were finally ejected after heavy losses by both sides.

An account of the fighting early Saturday from an Associated Press representative at Chihuahua City was delivered by a courier at Marfa, Texas, last night. This account stated that short range fighting occurred Saturday in Zarco avenue and that the bandits were finally driven out onto the plains, where they were raked with machine gun and artillery fire. The account also said that an automobile in which Villa was directing the bandit attack was riddled by the fire of the government troops and the bandit leader was forced to flee on horseback.

Later advices, received by Carranza officials here from a station north of Chihuahua City, said that Jose Ynez Salazar, Villa's second in command was seriously wounded Saturday. This report also stated that the fighting continued late Saturday. American army officers at El Paso received a report last night that Villa released the prisoners in Chihuahua City prison before he was driven out of the city. Carranza officials said they had received no such advices.

Judge Francisco Martinez of the court of letters here, announced today he had received information from official sources that Villa had been completely driven away from Chihuahua City and was retreating toward the mountains.

News dispatches have later reported the repulse of the attackers but nothing official in that feature had reached here today.

WHEAT PRICES DROP NINE CENTS; BIG SALES CAUSE IT

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Chicago, Nov. 27.—Wheat prices came down today with a crash, breaking in some cases as much as 9 3/8 cents a bushel. Big sales by some of the leading houses started a general movement to unload holdings and gave an opening for aggressive selling by bears.

In later dealings, the market scored rallies. The greatest recovery was in the last hour and was due to an unexpected falling off, shown in the United States visible supply. Prices however, closed weak at net losses of 3 1/4 to 4 1/2 cents a bushel, with December at $1.73 1/2 to $1.73 5/8; May $1.80 to $1.80 1/4 and July 1.49 7/8 to $1.50.

BUCHAREST

Threatened by Three Drives of Central Powers Now in Full Swing

WITHIN 50 MILES OF CITY

Field Marshal Von Mackensen Has a Large Force North of Danube and to Southwest of Capital Russian Advance in Dobrudja Seems to Have Halted—Quiet On Somme

The Teutonic campaign against Rumania is developing rapidly with a converging drive on Bucharest from three directions in progress. The immediate threat to the capital seems to be greatest on the southwest where the invaders have approached to within 50 miles, after Field Marshal von Mackensen had forced the passage of the Danube at two points and effected a junction with the armies of General von Falkenhayn, which are pressing rapidly eastward, having broken the Rumanian resistance on the lower Alt.

The rapid Teutonic advance southeast of Craiva turned the flank of the Alt position as did the Danube crossing. These factors together with the continued pressure on the northern end of the line also theoretically outflanked, have now resulted in the Rumanian abandonment of the Alt line.

Bucharest announces this today, reporting also a Rumanian retreat a little to the east of the Topolog river, a tributary of the Alt on the east. This retreat apparently places the important town of Rimnik on the railroad from Craiova to Hermannstadt in General von Falkenhayn's hands.

The threat on the north and northwest from the border passes east of the Alt, is still being held in check by the Russo-Rumanian troops and entente military writers assume that the Russians are sending further forces to help out the Rumanians defending the more immediate menace further south.

Sofia today gives some details of the crossings of the Danube. The crossing at Zimnitsa was made by Bulgarian troops who are said to have captured a large quantity of grain in the area. The Germans effected their crossing near the mouth of the Alt, occupying Istasz.

In Dobrudja north of the Constantza-Tchernavoda line the Russian advance appears to have come to a halt. The Bulgarian war office announces that the hostile forces which had been attacking have now entrenched before the Bulgarian position.

Fighting on the Macedonian front has been less general on account of bad weather, but continued progress for the Italians, who are driving northward west of Monastir is reported by Paris. Sofia declares the Italians were repulsed in this region. A Bulgarian counter attack northeast of Monastir in the Cerna river region was repulsed, according to the French war office.

Seemingly there is no disposition on the part of either the British or the French to attack in force in the Somme region just at present.

Extremely bad weather has been reported as prevailing on this front and such attacks as Berlin has recorded apparently have been local in character. London today in its report on operations along the Franco-Bulgarian front ignores the Somme and the Anvers regions, mentioning only artillery activity in the neighborhood of Labasse to the north of Arras.

Berlin today in its report on the Rumanian campaign announces the capture of Alexandria, 47 miles southwest of Bucharest. It also reports a further advance of the Teutonic forces which cross the Danube and declares the Rumanian resistance to this advance is breaking.

The Rumanian army from Orsova has not escaped, as had been reported, according to Berlin which announces its retreat southward blocked by Teutonic forces and reports the capture of more than 1,200 men and three cannon, besides large quantities of war material. Elsewhere more than 400 prisoners taken.

Important captures of Danube river craft, totalling a half dozen steamers and 50 barges, with valuable cargoes, are announced in the German headquarters statement.

Of Foot and Mouth Disease Is Cause of Alarm and Embargo Is Ordered

INSPECTORS ARE AT WORK

Herds in States West of the Mississippi River Are Suspected and Yards at Chicago and East St. Louis Closed Against All Stock Except Animals for Immediate Slaughter

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Chicago, Nov. 27.—Alarm over the possibility of a new outbreak of foot and mouth disease spread today and was reflected in quarantine and embargo orders. The Union Stock Yards here declared a quarantine against all cattle, horses, sheep, and swine originating in Kansas, Missouri and Nebraska. A train load of live stock was held up at Clinton, Iowa, for examination. Dr. O. E. Dyson, state veterinarian of Illinois, issued orders on the stock yards of Chicago and East St. Louis forbidding the shipment of any livestock except for immediate slaughter. This, it was explained, effects only a small proportion of live stock handled here. The animals affected are those not yet heavy enough for slaughter and which are reshipped from the yards to farms for further feeding. At this time this traffic is said to be light.

At Kansas City the embargo established Saturday night probably will remain effective until Wednesday, by which time it will be known whether suspected animals have contracted the malady. Federal inspectors are at work among suspected herds.

Edw. H. Everett Wins Suit Against the Government to Recover $75,000 Income Tax

Judge John E. Sater of the United States district court at Columbus, Saturday, established a rule of law, which, unless the government succeeds in taking the suit out from under the new rule, will procure Edward H. Everett, Newark, millionaire more than $75,000 in returned taxes.

Everett brought suit against the government to compel it to refund taxes paid on his income under protest. The contest resulted over a ruling by the commissioner of internal revenue to the effect that 27,500 shares of stock in the Edward H. Everett Co., turned over to Everett as his own personal property by the company in June, 1913, were in reality a dividend on his holding in the company. In addition to his income tax which he had returned and paid, he was assessed an additional sum, amounting to more than $72,000.

In 1904, the Edward H. Everett Co. was purchased by other persons. Everett, who owned virtually all the stock in the company, took new stock in payment. In 1910, the company bought stocks in two other companies. The petition in the present suit declares that Everett owned all the stock of the company, and that all had been earned and paid for at the close of the year 1910. Everett, it was declared, received all the dividends on the stock.

In February, 1913, the constitution of the United States was amended and the income tax law, passed shortly afterward, became effective. March 1, 1913, Everett, it is set up, made his return on his income for the period from March 1, 1913, to January 1, 1914, including the dividends paid to him by the company, and paid the taxes thereon. On July 16, 1913, the company transferred 27,500 shares of stock to Everett's name, for convenience sake. This stock, the internal revenue commissioner has held, constitutes a dividend and Everett was forced to pay income taxes on it, under protest.

He later made application for a refund and was denied whereupon he brought suit to recover. The government filed a demurrer to the suit, and it is in this demurrer that Judge Sater made his ruling. Judge Sater ruled that the stocks in question are not dividends, because no part of them accrued after the constitutional amendment had been adopted and the income tax law had been passed, but, instead, had accrued before the close of 1910. He ruled that the stocks were merely the capital of the Edward H. Everett Co., and were held by it for Everett, and that when it transferred these stocks to him, it simply put him in possession of what he already owned when the income tax law became effective in 1913.

Unless the government can produce a new set of facts in its answer and can, in this way, take the suit out from under the rule of law established by Judge Sater, Everett will recover his contested taxes. The case may be carried to the higher courts by the government.

With the exception of a single suit decided in the Eighth circuit court of appeals, the Everett case is the first to be brought under the new income tax law. Judge Sater placed considerable reliance on the ruling of Judge Sanborn, who decided the suit mentioned in the eighth district. The latter suit has not yet been officially reported.

BIBLE IS SILENT AS TO SUNDAY BUT IT SPEAKS OF SABBATH

"The change from the observance of the scriptural Sabbath, which is the seventh day of the week, to the observance of Sunday, the first day of the week, was accomplished by a gradual process of apostasy in the early Christian church during the second, third and fourth centuries of the Christian era. The Sunday festival, as its name indicates, is therefore a relic of pagan idolatry and sun worship which, along with other heathen rites, took its place in the church under an assumed and usurped title," declared Evangelist H. A. Weaver last night at the Seventh-Day Adventist church, 25 North Sixth street, before a large and interested audience.

The speaker carefully pointed out how history has responded to the voice of the prophecies of the Bible, and used many proofs from leading non-sectarian as well as sectarian works to uphold his claim that true Christianity of the present time has not done its full duty till it has compelled Sunday to show from the Bible, Christianity's only constitution, its fundamental rights which entitle it to recognition among other Christian institutions.

He said further, "Since the Bible is as silent as the sphinx with reference to Sunday, but lavish in its statements concerning the Sabbath, the only place, therefore, to which we can appeal for information as to how Sunday got into the church is to the writings of reliable historians who have written without bias on the question, and who have given us their testimony since the New Testament canon closed."

Mr. Weaver announced that he will speak next Sunday night on the "Origin of Sin and Satan."

NEWARK AGENTS WILL TOUR EAST OVER B. & O.

The second delegation of agents of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad at various points on the system will make an inspection of the road's terminals at Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York, early next month, according to a statement by J. M. Davis, vice president of operation, with whose branch of the service the agents are identified.

Several weeks ago a party of agents made a tour of the eastern cities reached by the company, and it is the plan of the management to take all of its representatives who come in contact with the public on such a tour of observation.

Those who will make the next trip include the agents at Florida, Ill., Serrmour and Vincennes, Ind., Chillicothe, Lima, Middletown, Hamilton, Fostoria Tiffin, Newark, Zanesville, Bellaire and Painesville, O., New Castle, Braddock, McKeesport and Washington, Pa., Fairmont, Clarksburg and Grafton, W. Va., Cumberland and Brannock, Md., and Potomac and Winchester, Va.

An Abrupt Ending.

Winston Spencer Churchill, formerly British first lord of the admiralty, made a little talk at a dinner of literary men some years ago, when he was known to fame as only a young author. He began by saying, "I, like Moses, am the author of five books, but I will not pursue the parallel further."

A Barnard professor advocates that girls be trained to carry weapons. If they do, it will be just one more thing for them to leave on the street cars.

Spirit of Enterprise.

It is an interesting problem in business psychology to determine why people will go to one store to trade rather than to another. It is not wholly a matter of the personality of the proprietor and his assistants, nor altogether of the prices or the quality of the goods sold. When a person quits his home town and goes off to trade somewhere else, he does not commonly buy the same article any cheaper, but something in the distant place seems more alluring.

Of course the relation of a store to the cost of living is perhaps the biggest factor. Prices come home closer to the modern family than anything else. When a woman reads that a $2.00 shirt waist can be bought for $1.33, nothing in the paper interests her so much. If she gets the idea that a certain place sells cheaper, she will patronize it, and you can't pry her loose from it. A great many stores win trade by giving an impression that they have enterprise. They spread abroad the idea that they have the spirit of hustle. There is nothing that the American temperament values more than this. If a man can give the idea that he is wide awake, people like to do business with him. They have confidence that he has been able to get the best values in the market and can afford to sell the same article cheaper.

The American people have little use for inactivity. They care little for the business man who sits down and waits for trade to come to him. They respect and have faith in the man who gets out and hustles for business.

The one way to give this impression of enterprise and hustle is to advertise. Personal solicitation from door to door might accomplish the same result, only it would cost twice as much. The newspaper advertisement gives the impression that you are hustling for business, that you are wide awake and keen to pick up the opportunities that are going, at the most favorable terms. The American public like to do business with that type of merchant.

Insurance.

One of the current magazines contains a story that is of special interest to life insurance agents and those who have given the subject of insurance any study. It tells of a woman who opposed the purchase of life insurance by her husband. He thrived in good health and to her the expenditure of real money for insurance seemed almost a waste. Sickness came, then death and the woman was thrown upon her own resources. Too late did she realize what a life insurance policy would have meant to her husband's estate. She studied the situation and studied insurance, finally becoming an agent for a well known company. Her own experience gave her confidence in the work and she has made a brilliant business success. Every man who can pass the physical examination should buy life insurance.

Electoral Reform.

In a discussion of the suggested abolition of the electoral college, the Philadelphia Press makes the assertion that "it is quite as easy for the popular vote to be so close as to be doubtful in the nation or in a State. In 1884 Mr. Blaine's plurality over Mr. Cleveland is the combined vote of all the States was just 25." The Philadelphia Record however points out the fact that there is not the faintest basis for the latter statement, which is absurd on its face. In the Presidential election of 1884 Mr. Blaine had no plurality of any kind, least of all in the popular vote. The official figures were: Blaine, 4,848,334; Cleveland, 44,911,017. Democratic plurality, 62,933.

The Record says the electoral system has invariably worked against the Democrats and in favor of their opponents that the present agitation has been started. It would have been monstrous if President Wilson, with a popular plurality of over 400,000, had been deprived of reelection by a switch of 2,000 votes.

Old Locations and Trade.

There are always some merchants who think they can win out as a result of the favorable location of their store. They are so situated that an unusual number of people pass by. Also they have held the same position for many years, and they think people are used to finding their way inside.

But if they would count the number of people who pass and those who enter, they would be surprised to see how small a proportion they get. They need to do something else besides sitting down passively by the side of the thoroughfare.

Also it is surprising how easily a store in an unfavorable place can get business by advertising. People like to go out of their way if they can thereby get an advantage in buying. They boast to each other of the new place they have found where goods can be bought to better advantage. It only takes a little advertising, just a few announcements of bargains, just a little giving the impression of hustle, to divert the trade current.

A movement is said to be on foot to provide an executive mansion for Ohio and just think of it—Governor Willis has been living at a hotel for the past two years.

There is a growing feeling that there is nothing disgraceful when a motorist cuts down his speed through a crowded street to less than twenty miles an hour.

Comfort for Mr. Hughes.

(Louisville Courier-Journal.)
It was for Judge Alton Brooks Parker that The Courier-Journal said: "Great Judges make disappointing candidates," and after the lapse of 12 years it may say the same thing—In point of fact it has said the same thing of Justice Charles Evans Hughes.

Eminent lawyers as a rule make poor politicians. Non of the famous lawyers of England succeeded in the British House of Commons. Erskine, the foremost of the forensic orators of his time, was a complete failure there. The like experience may be noted of the Lower House of the American Congress. The celebrated William Pinkney proved a failure there. Occasionally a distinguished lawyer like Elihu Root, has drifted into politics not without a certain measure of success. But the instances are rare, and go to prove the rule that eminent lawyers make poor politicians and great Judges disappointing candidates.

Yet most mistakes leave some compensation behind them. Mr. Hughes is an eminent lawyer. He is a brave, pure, upright man. He will stick to his shingle again, get a great law partner, die rich and leave his family affluent. That is surely something. Nay, one thing else, he has escaped the discomforts and disappointments of the "goldardness," the meanest office on the face of the globe to a man of real brain and heart to end his days like the Christian and the gentleman that he is. The Courier-Journal tenders him its sincere congratulations. There are worse things in this bleak world worse than being beaten for President, and historically he is in mighty good company.

Behind the President.

(Cleveland Plain Dealer.)
Official Republican admission that President Wilson was really re-elected two weeks ago last Tuesday was long delayed but, so far as Chairman Wilcox is concerned in particular, no lack of cordiality characterizes the acknowledgment.

It is now time, declares the Republican chairman, for everyone to get behind the president and give him undivided support.

One of the best features of American politics is that men who are bitter partisans for weeks preceding an election find themselves almost instantly of one accord the moment the people have spoken. There were Hughes men, Hughes Women and Wilson women, before the election; now we are or should be all Wilson men and Wilson women. For the president is no longer a partisan leader but the chief executive of all the people, lately recommissioned for a second term.

So let us, as Chairman Wilcox suggests, get behind the president. Let us, as Mr. Hughes does in his telegram of congratulation, wish the president a successful second administration. It is time now to think less of party and more of country.

Switching to Wilson.

(From the Fatherland.)
The Fatherland in the past has often attacked Woodrow Wilson. But we have never been blind to his virtues. We have disagreed with him; we may disagree with him again; but being shackled by no consideration of private interest or party, we have aimed to co-operate with him to the extent of our ability wherever in our opinion his course was unmistakably right. As early as June we helped him when he discovered the first glimpse of new Woodrow Wilson, a Woodrow Wilson who, freeing himself from evil advisers and inherited prejudice, realized that the right and wrong of the great war is not for us to judge, that its causes are obscure, and that Europe's quarrels concern us not. We saw a Woodrow Wilson with a vision not of war, but of peace for America, peace for the world. We saw a change, imperceptible at first in the attitude of the administration; in spite of invidious resistance within the state department, there was at least an approach to impartiality.

We said that the attitude of the German-American vote would be determined by what Mr. Hughes would say and by what Mr. Wilson would do. Mr. Hughes spoke, he spoke well, but he hedged and permitted his friends to contradict him. Mr. Wilson acted, he acted unsentimentally after its passage, if he had been more decisive, if he had applied the Thomas amendment immediately after its passage, if he had promptly demanded the protection of our mails in terms that brook no contradiction, he would have carried not merely one-half of the electorate, he would have carried the country. Now that his reelection is assured, Woodrow Wilson ceases to be the candidate. He is the head of the nation to whom we must look for guidance. Through him alone in the next four years can the American people accomplish their mission. We shall loyally support him if he follows his vision. We expect him to maintain our rights against both groups of belligerents. We also expect him to carry out his mandate of peace both at home and abroad.

Our Possible Allies.

(Philadelphia Record.)
James M. Beck's idea that if we should become involved with any great power we should have to fight alone, while our enemy would have allies, is absurd. It may be quite true—though evidence on this point is not all on one side—that we are not popular with the nations of Europe. It is inevitable that a great nation, whose help would be important, is more or less disliked by both groups of belligerents. This is the conclusive proof that we have maintained our neutrality, and that neutrality is not only our own interest, but it is, on the whole and in the long run, the interest of the world.

But the feeling of one nation for another has very little to do with war or peace. War results from a conflict of national purposes, and not from friendliness or dislike. We need not go back of the present war to see the glaring and conspicuous evidences of this. The allies of Great Britain are France and Russia. The popular feeling in England had long been anti-French. The essential feature of England's foreign policies for generations had been antagonism toward and fear of Russia. The enmity between Great Britain, France and Russia does not go back more than 10 or 12 years, and a very little earlier than the conflict of British and French interests in Africa brought the two countries to the verge of war.

In 1904 and 1905 Japan and Russia were at war, but in the present war Japan is the ally of Russia in the East and has been of incalculable value to Russia in the West by furnishing war supplies. In 1912-13 Turkey and Bulgaria were at war, but in about two and a half years from the restoration of peace between them they were allies of each other and of the Teutonic Powers. Italy was a member of the Dreibund, but would not aid Austria against Serbia and for a year and a half has been fighting Austria. Serbia was the ally of Bulgaria in 1912. In 1913 they were fighting. In both years Greece was the ally of both of them, but in 1916 it repudiated its treaty agreement to help Serbia against Bulgaria.

If the United States should be at war with one of the great Powers no man being able now tell what combination might result. The interests at that time would govern, and they might bring three or four nations to our assistance. The fact that in the present war, which would then be in the past, we had not helped the allies or the Central Powers, would have no influence whatever upon the combinations that might result from a different set of circumstances.

The Truth of History.

(Louisville Courier-Journal.)
Hiram Johnson, secure of his own election as United States Senator from California, seems to feel called upon to say something generous in explanation of Mr. Hughes' defeat in that State. And so he brings himself to say that Mr. Hughes was beaten because petty politicians in California made it appear that he was a reactionary.

Mr. Johnson is partially right. Mr. Hughes was beaten in California because he was made to appear a reactionary, though not by petty politicians so much as by a petty politician.

And that petty politician was Mr. Hughes himself. His tour in California did much to insure his defeat, and no one knows this better than Governor Johnson. He placed himself in the hands of the old railroad ring which had made California politics notoriously undependable, and his first act in the State was to offend a ring who had rebelled against ruling by avowing that he was the representative only of the party controlled by it.

His whole campaign was that of a reactionary, the one issue which he openly championed being the obsolete, repudiated tariff of the most reactionary element of the Republican party.

Wagers have been laid as to whether Jeannette will or will not disclose her age.—Anacosta Standard.

Hughes' Congratulations.
The message of congratulation sent by Mr. Hughes to President Wilson is chiefly of sentimental value. It is a private episode of a contest, the result of which has been apparent for days. But Mr. Hughes bore the commission of his party, and, in spite of criticism, it was proper for him to withhold his congratulations until the apparent result had become a certainty. Milady's Boudoir

The Housewife's Beauty.

So many women who keep house, unfortunately forget their personal appearance that won the heart of their husbands when they were young. The housewife should be just as careful of her hair, skin and working clothes, in a neat practical way, as the blushing bride.

Carelessness in donning the morning waist, kimono or coffee jacket should not be tolerated. Use a little judgment in selecting style and color; not only neatness and harmony will be the result, but one's beauty will be greatly enhanced.

No doubt one who has been engaged in cooking or superintending the dinner will have cause to complain of a florid complexion. While this is only a natural result and one not to be ashamed of, still it is necessary to appear so at the table, and does it increase one's charm? Knowing that heat and exercise will bring not only the color to the face, and in many cases, grease, it is one's duty to remove both for one's good appearance sake, if for no other reason.

This is best done by wiping the face with a soothing astringent lotion, and then applying an even coat of good face powder, the cheeks will have enough color. Some women object to the use of face powder, but there is no harm done in using it provided the right sort is used and a good cream used before it is well cleansed before retiring.

Burns on the hands and arms are of frequent occurrence to the housewife, aside from the pain caused, they do not add to one's charm. In case of a burn at once apply linseed or sweet oil to the parts affected and then thickly cover with baking soda and bind with a soft linen cloth; in ordinary cases of burn this will shortly relieve the pain.

The Tale of the Tooth Brush.
Many of us are careful of our hairbrushes and clothes but so few remember the humble toothbrush. To keep the teeth perfectly white and perfect the tooth brush should receive care as well. A good toothbrush if used conscientiously should not be in use more than two weeks at a time and it is better to keep two in use so that each may have a period of drying out and airing. It never pays to buy too cheap a brush if the price is at the expense of the bristles. In the first place, a poor set of bristles will not do their work well, and, in the second place, loosely fastened bristles are very dangerous if they slip down the throat, where they may catch and decay or penetrate the walls of the digestive tract.

Always wash out the brush thoroughly after each application and by the way, a new brush should be soaked in a weak solution of bicarbonate of soda for the two hours both to disinfect it from shop handling and to set the bristles so that they will not fall out readily.

The teeth should be brushed at night, after each meal and upon rising. It is particularly important to clean them the last thing before retiring, so that food particles will not remain in the teeth crevices to decay over night when the mouth saliva is not active enough to prevent it.

During a long illness the teeth should be carefully cleaned when they cannot receive attention from a dentist. If this were done fewer teeth troubles would be laid to the account, which is not much more to blame than neglect of the mouth.

Wieg—"Does that fellow Long-bow ever tell the truth?" Wace—"Well, I caught him in the truth once, but he tried to lie out of it."

DIGESTION WORTH HAVING

Good digestion is not appreciated until you lose it. Then you cannot afford to experiment on remedies. Strong medicines are hard on weak stomachs. To be able to eat what you want and to digest it is a priceless blessing. If you have lost it do not be deceived by the claims of predigested foods and stomach tonics, so-called. There is no tonic for the stomach that is not a tonic for every other part of the body. As the blood goes everywhere, an improvement in its condition quickly results in strengthening weak organs. Rich, red blood is absolutely necessary to digestion. If your stomach is weak and you are troubled with gas, sour risings in the throat, a feeling of pressure about the heart and palpitation, try the tonic treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

So many dyspeptics have been helped by this simple treatment that every sufferer from stomach trouble should try it. The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., has issued a booklet "What to Eat and How to Eat" that should be in every home. It gives just the information that you want regarding your diet. The company will mail Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, postpaid, at fifty cents per box or your own druggist can supply you.

Our Boys and Girls

Milk is always an ideal food for children. It is a great misfortune for a child to develop a distaste for milk. Do everything possible to continue milk as a basis for the child's diet. Vary the food with which milk and cream may be used—bread, crackers, cereal, cocoa, etc. Additional fat is supplied by butter, but the fat of meats should not be all removed. Cook it so that it is not smoked or burned, and therefore disagreeable. Cereals make a good food when combined with milk, the richer the better. Nearly every child likes sugar. It is not to be forbidden nor too closely limited. But it must not be substituted for fat.

Fruit must not be forgotten. Its chief nutritive value is in the small amounts of sugar which it contains. To make this available the fruits must be ripe, and some kinds must be cooked. More important is the stimulation which fruit gives to the child's appetite.

Domestic Amenities.

"Gee, that wouldn't hold half your vanity! I expected 'em to unload a piano case at the very least."—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

How The Neal Institute Cures The Drink Habit

The drink habit is like a disease. Some authorities say that it is a disease. In very rare cases it is possible to cure it by force of will power alone.

The only successful cure for the drink habit must assist nature to rid the system of the poison of alcohol and its effects, at the same time destroying permanently the desire for alcohol.

This is science plus good old-fashioned common sense.

Hypodermic injections of narcotic drugs, even if they could be depended upon to rid the victim of the alcohol habit, are too dangerous to use.

It would be folly to substitute a drug habit for the drink habit.

It would be like stopping a child from biting his finger nails by pulling out his teeth, for drug habits are worse than drink.

The Neal Institute cures the drink habit in three days without the use of narcotic drugs in any form and without the use of hypodermic injections of any kind.

The Neal is one of the few Drink Cures in the world that never resorts to hypodermic injections.

At the Neal Institute only internal remedies are used—remedies that tone and strengthen the system while ridding it of all desire for alcohol.

The Neal Institute cures the drink habit in three days.

Make them prove it.

Not a Bite of Breakfast Until You Drink Water

Says a glass of hot water and phosphate prevents illness and keeps us fit.

Just as coal, when it burns, leaves behind a certain amount of combustible material in the form of ashes, so the food and drink taken day after day leaves in the alimentary canal a certain amount of indigestible material which if not completely eliminated from the system each day, becomes food for the millions of bacteria which infest the bowels. From this mass of left-over wastes, toxins and ptomaine-like poisons are formed and sucked into the blood.

Men and women who can't get feeling right must begin to take inside baths. Before eating breakfast each morning drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash out of the thirty feet of bowels the previous day's accumulation of poisons and toxins and to keep the entire alimentary canal clean, pure and fresh.

Those who are subject to sick headache, colds, biliousness, constipation, others who wake up with bad taste, foul breath, backache, rheumatic stiffness, or have a sour, gassy stomach after meals, are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store, and begin practicing internal sanitation. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone an enthusiast on the subject.

Remember inside bathing is more important than outside bathing, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing poor health, while the bowel pores do. Just as soap and hot water cleanses, sweetens and freshens the skin, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels.

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

Says Backache is a sign you have been eating too much meat, which forms uric acid.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it generally means you have been eating too much meat, says a well known authority. Meat forms uric acid which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood and they become sort of paralyzed and loggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels; removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scalds and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys; also to neutralize acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is a life saver for regular meat eaters. It is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink.

FEW FOLKS HAVE GRAY HAIR NOW

Well-known Local Druggist Says
Everybody is Using Old-time Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Hair that loses its color and lustre or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless, is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grand mother made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women and men who value that even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old-time recipe.

Nowadays we get this famous mixture improved by the addition of other ingredients by asking at any drug store for a 50-cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which darkens the hair so naturally, so evenly, that nobody can possibly tell it has been applied. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also brings back the gloss and lustre and gives it an appearance of abundance.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite to impart color and a youthful appearance to the hair. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

at 129 5-8 to 129 3-4 a new maximum. Equipments also were in favor. Airbrakes, American and Baldwin Locomotive and Railway Steel Springs gaining from 1 to 2-1/2 points. Copper and allied metals were in further demand at more moderate advances. Harvester issues, Ohio Gas, Industrial alcohol and Texas company were included among the other strong specialties with firmness in rails.

Recessions of 1 to 3 points before the end of the first hour left nothing of the initial advance. Selling was of a mixed character, caused in part by fears of a recurrence of submarine activities in nearby waters, but profit taking also was a potent factor. Steel made an extreme loss of almost 2 points and centennial leather 3, and shipping shares, as well as coppers, were subjected to obvious pressure with Mexicans. Ohio Gas was the noteworthy feature among the utilities, rising 7 points to the new record of 105. Rails moved contrarily. Reading showing marked strength with heaviness in Canadian Pacific. Dealings diminished before midday when prices made partial recovery.

Activity in Chile 7's and Rock Island debentures features the irregular bond market.

Weakness in the grain markets overcame early strength in provisions. Declines however were not radical.

The market became increasingly sensitive to pressure in the later trading. Lowest prices then being made. The trading was heavy.

Chicago, Nov. 27.—Reports that an armistice soon in Europe was not unlikely and that meanwhile exports from the United States would be curtailed by dangers from the presence of a fighting submarine in the Atlantic sent wheat values tumbling headlong down grade today.

Opening prices, which ranged from the same as Saturday's, finished 7-8c lower with Dec. at 1.76 to 1.78 and May 1.83 1-2 to 1.38 3-4 were succeeded by a material rally, but then a fall, which carried July down 9 3-8 to 1.45 and made Dec. and May drop respectively 5 1-8 and 1 5-8 a bushel.

Corn gave way with wheat. After opening unchanged to 3-4 lower, the market hardened somewhat, but then sagged to about one cent under Saturday's latest figures.

Oats paralleled the action of corn. Selling was heavy and general.

Weakness in the grain markets overcame early strength in provisions. Declines however were not radical.

Talk of the likelihood of an armistice in Europe had considerable to do with weakening the market, and so also had warning of the presence of a fighting submarine in the Atlantic. Continued conference to a possible embargo by the United States was likewise a factor.

July wheat in which the greatest decline took place fell to $1.45 as compared with 1.54 1-8 to 1.54 3-8 as the finish on Saturday.

Scene and Characters From Oliver Morosco's International Success "Peg o' My Heart," at The Auditorium, Thanksgiving Day, November 30th

Amusements

ALHAMBRA.

Never has Winifred Kingston appeared in a photoplay of more attraction or in which she showed to such advantage as in "A Son of Erin."

This Pallas-Paramount photoplay coming to the Alhambra tonight and tomorrow, is without doubt her greatest screen achievement. As Katie O'Grady she seems so fascinatingly Irish that it is easy to see why the Irish lads were all in love with her. The story tells of the ambitions strivings of a fine strapping Irish lad (Dustin Farnum) who goes to America and finds conditions very different from what he had imagined. But the "sand" in the man wins the highest admiration from the spectator and leads to great events in a photoplay of fascinating interest.

"The Scarlet Oath" which is the coming attraction at the Alhambra theatre on Wednesday and Thursday is guaranteed to give you more thrills during the unfolding of its masterplot, than any "dime novel," you have ever read—but the finished manner in which this play has been handled under the personal direction of William A. Brady eliminates

all the crudeness found in such publications and gives only perfection

AUDITORIUM.

Revue of 1917.

When you visit the Auditorium tonight where the Henry P. Dixon (Inc.) Big Revue of 1917 company is to be the attraction, we advise you to take particular interest in the "Parcel Post" song. This is a novelty, par excellence and worth your especial attention and while "Doty" Morris, a comely and adroit comedienne, with a pleasing voice, and assisted by a bevy of pretty and vivacious young women attired as letter carriers, will render the number. The music and lyrics are original. With the melody of the effective and infectious kind. The choristers during the action of the number will mingle with the audience, smile and beam, and then in good natured fun present to those that strike their fancy a package. Now, as each package contains a valuable gift, something that you can take to your homes to remember long after the show has departed, we advise you to look your best, banish every frown and mood and be the personification of your own sweet self, for you might be the recipient of something that will make your visit doubly interesting.

The show itself is out of the beaten path and replete with all those essential ingredients, tuneful music, catchy songs, wholesome fun, pretty and vivacious girls, an inviting scenic investiture, novelties and surprises, that go to make a production different and withal entertaining and successful. Harry (Hickey) Levan, Claire Devine, Charles Warren, Altie Mason, the "Athletic Girl," Florrie Brooks, Charles Saxon, "Doty" Morris and Joseph L. Dixon are foremost among the mirth-provokers. The burlesque on the big "movie" stars is one of the features. Seats now selling.

New Metro Picture.

Emily Stevens, the famous stage and screen star, will be the feature attraction at the Auditorium theatre on Tuesday in "The Wheel of the Law," a sensational five-part Metro wonderplay. The story has to do with the injustice of convictions obtained on circumstantial evidence alone by officials who have political aspirations, and who are often prompted by their ambition to be relentless in their prosecutions. Miss Stevens is surrounded by an exceptionally strong cast.

This Metro Feature will be shown at the Auditorium Tuesday together with the 6th Episode, "Crimson Stain Mystery," that wonderful and exciting serial with Maurice Costello and Ethel Grandin in the stellar roles, also "Twas School Days," the picture that was taken here a few weeks ago. This feature was shown Saturday and created lots of talk as the different persons appeared on the screen. The High school, also the Central school with the scholars are seen and many funny incidents are shown. This is a wonderful program and none should miss it. "Twas School Days" will be shown together with the regular Auditorium program on Tuesday, Wednesday afternoon, Friday and Saturday.

"Peg o' My Heart."

"The first thing that most women ask the actress who is playing the part of the heroine," says Rea Martin, the leading woman in "Peg o' My Heart," at the Auditorium, Thanksgiving Day, matinee and night, "is whether she is really in love with the hero. It is hard to make them believe the stage love-making is not real." As a matter of fact, it is very seldom that the hero and the heroine, who make such constant love in private life, and when they do, it is sure to mar their love-making on the stage. If the heroine really cares for any one in the company, it is more than likely it is the villain or some one with whom she does not come in contact at all during the action of the play, and it is just as true that if the hero has any love affair at all in the company, it is most certain that his innamorata is the adventures or some pretty girl playing a servant's part.

"Personally, in order to secure the best effect in love scenes on the stage, I prefer to be simply good friends with the man who plays my lover. That is, I think, the best way to make one's work felt by the audience. If a woman is very hapless, she is bound to repress her emotions. The love she feels for the man is a thing sacred to her and she will not, cannot, exhibit it to the public. As a result, the love scenes are not convincing, and the acting is wooden, and the audience is not satisfied. But on the other hand, if the heroine dislikes the hero, if she has a little 'swat' with him, it will be even more evident to the audience. No woman, however good an actress can completely hide her feelings and such a dislike is bound to show in the performance she gives."

Philosophy of "Peg o' My Heart." Rea Martin who still retains the title role in "Peg o' My Heart," the comedy that has made Oliver Morosco famous as a theatrical producer, has some very witty dialogue in the second act of the "Manners" comedy. One of the treats of her performance is her rendition of the following lines:

"All selfish women have dogs because they're afraid to have children."

"Dogs are all right in their way, but they can't cry, talk and comfort you as a baby can."

"You English girls only fondle dogs because you haven't any children."

"Oh I know it isn't customary for girls to talk about such things, but I don't see why we shouldn't discuss events of national importance." "I suppose that's the original sin in me. My father always said to me, 'Peg,' says he, whenever I did anything sinful at home or disturbing at home; 'Peg, that's the original sin in you, and you're not to be punished because you can't help it,' which, I think, is a great way to raise a daughter."

"Do you know what love is? It's mighty disturbing. I tell you! Sometimes you walk on air, and other times your feet are like lead, while the world is all beautiful flowers and sweet music and things, or else it's all coffins and corpses and shrouds."

Sardinia Gives Name, but No Fish. We get the word "sardine" from Sardinia, but we get few sardines, says the National Geographic Magazine, for practically all of this "catch" is consumed locally. The tunny fisheries of the island, on the other hand, are important and profitable. The Genoese control the latter industry, for the Sardinians are not a maritime folk.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—if You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sallow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action, yet always effective. They bring about that exuberance of spirit, that natural buoyancy which should be enjoyed by everyone, by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

You will know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets by their olive color. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

[ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM]
Akron, Nov. 27.—John Schank, boarding house room here this morning, fastened a rope about his neck and through the hook, and hung

Man the Hypocrite.
Man is a poor, weak biological specimen. He spends his life making good resolutions and formulating strict ethical codes for the guidance of himself and his fellows. These ethical codes, consisting in the main of restrictions upon his pleasure, he shouts from the house-tops in the most public manner possible.

Hardly does he utter them, however,
than he sets about in surreptitious ways to disregard them. Such is man. It is not so much that he leadeth a double life, but that he leadeth a single hypocritical life.—Life.

One Economic Failure.
Theorist—Our housewives ought to be encouraged to make their own bread. The homestead article would not be so liable to go up. Practical Friend—No; if it's all the kind my wife tried to make it would be too heavy to do any rising.—Exchange.

Most Fatal Disease.
As regards the matter of mortality the race is close between the following diseases: Consumption, heart disease, pneumonia and the various diseases of the digestive organs, with the advantage slightly in favor of consumption or tuberculosis of the lungs. Brichi's disease is latterly looming as a strong competitor with tuberculosis. — New

THE EXCEPTIONS.

Some men, though careful about their health, die young, while others, though negligent of their health, live long. Yet do these instances alter the truth that taking care of oneself is the way to live long?—Kyuso.

How to Become a Highbrow.
One never can tell the sociological possibility of some little thing that seems hardly worth the saying. Thus if you say, "He swears like a jirake," you are not sociological. But suppose you pull yourself together and say,
"Profanity in that it relaxes the intension by a sudden nervous discharge and offers a means of escape from social inhibitions is, when physiologically considered, nature's method under the conditions of modern civilized life of producing an outlet for primitive emotions which in an earlier period were apt to take more socially injurious forms, such as piracy." You will then be taken for a sociologist. I do not say you will really be a sociologist, but you will look like one, especially if you add a bibliography.—New Republic.

thing he touches turns to gold."
Hardup—"I wouldn't mind being touched by a fellow like that."

Carpets of the Ancients.
References to carpets are found among the earliest Egyptian and Assyrian writers. In Egypt, for example, floor and seat coverings were used in temples for religious ceremonies, while about 1500 B. C. they garnished the interiors of the royal palaces.
For 400 years following the dynasty of the pharaohs carpet weaving was apparently confined to the Egyptians and Assyrians, an extant example of a floor cover of 705 B. C., taken from the palace at Nineveh, bearing a design of woolen lotus flowers and buds.
Arrian tells us that the tomb of Cyrus the Persian was covered with a pall of purple Babylonian tapestry, while Callixenus, the best reporter of his time, writing the story of the banquet given by one of the Ptolemies, pictures "purple carpets of finest wool with the pattern on both sides and handsomely embroidered rugs very beautifully elaborated with figures," a description of which might well apply to the floor or chair coverings in any mansions of today.—New York World.

The Ballot.
Secret voting was exercised by the ancient Greeks and Romans. Ballot boxes were used in electing aldermen in London in 1523. First instance of the employment of the ballot in American elections was in the choice of a pastor by the Salem (Mass.) church on July 20, 1629. In 1634 it began to be used in the elections of governors of Massachusetts.

SUFFRAGE

LEADER DIES OF ANEMIA IN LOS ANGELES HOSPITAL EARLY SUNDAY.

Strain of Campaign in Which She Took Part Brought on Attack Which Caused Her Death.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Los Angeles, Nov. 27.—Mrs. Inez Milholland Boissevain, widely-known suffragist and welfare worker, who died in a hospital here early Sunday morning after an illness of 10 weeks, was 30 years old.

Mrs. Boissevain was stricken suddenly while addressing an audience in this city during the recent political campaign and lapsed on the platform at the meeting. She was removed to a hospital and her husband and parents rushed from New York to join her here.

Mrs. Boissevain's illness was diagnosed as aplastic anemia and blood transfusion was resorted to in attempts to improve her condition. Miss Vida Milholland twice gave blood for this purpose and on four other occasions friends submitted to the ordeal in hope that benefit would result. After each transfusion temporary improvement was followed by relapse.

A few days ago the physicians in charge stated that there was practically no hope for Mrs. Boissevain, but thereafter she rallied and it was thought that she might recover. Late yesterday she began to sink. Her husband, Eugene Boissevain; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John E. Milholland of New York, and her sister, Miss Vida, were present when she died.

It was stated that Mrs. Boissevain's trouble originated in her tonsils, which became inflamed as the result of too constant speaking during the campaign. She had been weakened by overexertion and when she became ill her system failed to resist the advance of the disease.

Arrangements were completed yesterday to send the body of Mrs. Boissevain to her home in New York tonight for burial, it was announced. Mrs. Boissevain had been for many years widely known for her activity as a woman suffragist, a social welfare worker, and an advocate of Socialism and as a practicing lawyer.

As a student at Vassar college, 1905, although known as the college beauty and possessed of wealth and position, she shunned society as such and shocked the more conservative college opinion by her radical social views. She also made a name for herself as an athlete, being captain of her class hockey team, which won the college championship, and a member of the 1909 track team.

Aside from her college activities she worked among the poor children in the city of Poughkeepsie and had herself appointed court probation officer.

During the 1908 presidential campaign she won new fame as "the girl who broke up the Taft parade." While the parade was being held in New York City she stationed herself in a window and shouted "Votes for women" through a megaphone.

Following her graduation from Vassar College she attempted to enter Harvard law school, but this permission was denied her on the ground that it was not a co-educational institution. The incident gave rise to a heated newspaper controversy, in which Inez Milholland and other prominent feminists took part.

Miss Milholland finally received her degree in law at the New York University law school in 1912.

She began the practice of law in 1912 as a clerk in the office of James W. Osborne.

In July, 1913, she married by a civil ceremony in London, Eugene Boissevain, a wealthy Hollander. She returned to this country and continued her practice of law and suffrage activities. In 1915 she was denied permission to make a suffrage speech at the fifteenth anniversary ceremonies of Vassar College. Later the same year she went to Italy as a war correspondent and was forced to leave Italy by the authorities there because of her pacifist writings.

In 1916 she went as a delegate on the Ford peace ship, but left the party at Stockholm because, as she said in a statement, "the undemocratic methods employed by the managers are repugnant to my principles."

Mrs. Boissevain was born in New York, Aug. 6, 1886, receiving her early education in New York, London and Berlin. She was a member of the Political Equality League, Women's Political Union, national child labor committee, Woman's Social and Political Union of England and the Fabian Society, England.

17-Year Locusts.

During the spring of 1917 a brood of periodical cicadas, or 17-year locusts, is scheduled to appear in the eastern part of Ohio, according to the entomologists at the Ohio Experiment Station. Portage, Trumbull, Mahoning, Stark, Columbiana, Carroll, Jefferson and Belmont counties comprise the area where the insects will appear. A large brood is expected in 1919 over the western part of the state, and of these a few may appear in Columbiana and Gallia counties.

Underground life for 17 years is required for the growth of these insects, and at the end of that period they appear in swarms over well-defined areas. Injury is done to twigs of trees and to fruit by female adults in laying their eggs. The young live upon the roots of trees and other plants, and after many years of seclusion come above ground to enjoy life there only for a few weeks, lay their eggs and pass away.

In counties where this insect appeared in large numbers in 1900, fruit trees should not be planted extensively next spring. Young trees may have the trunks and large limbs wrapped with paper to prevent egg-deposition, and the upper limbs should then be either inclosed by mosquito netting as complete protection. The Station entomologists say such treatment is more effective than attempts to kill the insects.
